GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, JULY 6, 1922

THREE CENTS

$6,000,000 BUILDING YEAR IS INDICATED FOR 1922 BY PERMITS AND NEW PLACES

Building Department Discounts Pessimism as to Progress of Growth of Construction in City by New, Startling Figures
TOTAL NOW EXCEEDS ALL OTHER RECORDS
Plans for Large Amount of Construction to Come in Fall, Expected to Lift City to Big New Total; Home Building Now

Glendale is headed straight for a $6,000,000 building permit year, and if the string does not break it will certainly surpass this figure. Facts issued by the building department of Glendale this morning are an emphatic contradiction to the rumor that things are slowing down in this city. It is an assured and frequently repeated fact that figures do not lie, and, telling the absolute truth, as they do, they assuredly spell a year of unprecedented success for Glendale.

Up to the present time the building permits for the year total $3,249,792, against $2,532,941 to August 1, 1921, the increase this year, with almost a month to go, being $716,851. Thus far during the month of July the permits total $52,175, being better than $10,000 per day. In the month of July, 1921, the building permits totaled $362,525.

All of this shows that Glendale is still "growing some." Practically all of the permits issued this month have been for homes and they show that, contrary to unfavorable rumors, new families are coming here daily and that the growth of Glendale is substantial in every way.

So, there is no need to worry, except possibly that very soon all the real estate in Glendale will be taken up and we will have no room to take care of those who scramble to get in.

At 7:45 a general meeting in the auditorium will be held, being for all members, whether or not they attend the dinner. Members are invited to bring friends interested in the purpose of the association. The main speaker of the evening will be Lieut. Colonel Louis E. Bennett, U. S. A., who had command of artillery schools in France. His subject will be "The Training of the American Artillery in the World War."

In addition to this, an enjoyable entertainment will be put on through the courtesy of the directorship of Union League club. Anyone desiring to attend this meeting, should send a card to Frank R. McReynolds, major, C. A. O. R. C. secretary, 605 Federal building, Los Angeles, Cal.

The Ladies Aid society of Central avenue Methodist church, corner of Central and Palmer avenues, will present Tom Thumb's Wedding on Friday evening, July 7, at 8 o'clock in the church auditorium.

This promises to be a charming affair, and all the children taking part will be appropriately costumed, the little bride to wear a beautiful white dress with long train and veil, and carry a bouquet of white roses.

The play is under the direction of Miss Josephine Cooke and Mrs. Evans, and much credit is due them for their efforts toward the success of this affair. At the close of the evening a silver offering will be taken. After the ceremony, the children numbering about 50 will be taken to the social hall for a treat. They will be seated at long tables and the little bride will cut the wedding cake. The grown-ups may follow with their own ice cream and cake.

The children taking part in this little play are Tom Thumb, Arthur Hagen; bride, Beryl Mitchell; maid of honor, Winifred Williams; best man, John Page; bridesmaids, Louise and Alice Torrey, Ruth Mitchell and Juanita Alexander; ushers, Donald Sudlow, Frank Spade, Bennie Hagen and Franklin Shinner; ring bearer, Joe Marple; flower girl, Helen Jean Hellman; minister, Albert Hunt. The wedding march will be played by Anna Louise Muhleman. Ruth Harwood will sing "O Promise Me." Marjorie Sudlow and Mary Claire Moran will sing a duet, "I Love You Truly."

The public is cordially invited to attend, this delightful little play and it is hoped that a large audience will turn out.

Community Thru Large Gift Becomes An Educational Center

Higher education and culture will be inspired by the magnificent gift of Henry E. Huntington to the public. He has established in this community an educational center which will be as a magnet to science and genius. The great gift is the theme for one of the able editorialists which you will find on the editorial page this evening.

"We speak of initiative, individuality, courage and they are merely expressions of personal forces learned, understood and applied," asserts James W. Foley in The Listening Post which this evening is based on the subject of forces. You will enjoy the philosophy embodied in Mr. Foley's contribution.

According to Henry James in comment on the day's news the giddy element among the screen people must admit themselves to be amateurs in comparison with members of society in speaking of allegiances made by an eastern minister.

The editorial page besides these educational and interesting articles contains the daily features by Dr. Frank Crane, Della Stewart and John Pilgram as well as eastern point of view, a poem and truths in epigram.

FRIENDS OF HARRY GIRARD RALLY TO HIS AID

Monstrous Benefit to Be Staged for Generous Glendale Musicians
A great big, rousing, benefit concert is being planned for Harry Girard, one of the leading and most popular vocalists in Glendale, who fell and fractured his hip several days ago. This concert will be strictly sacred and will be held on the afternoon of Sunday, July 16, at 4:30 o'clock. It will be held in the Glendale theatre, and the entire proceeds will go toward helping to pay the costs of the trouble big-hearted Harry is now in. The details of the affair are being taken care of by Mayor Robinson, another of those big-hearted fellows, and right from the start success is spelled all over the concert.

When Mr. Robinson went to Manager "Bill" Howe of the Glendale theatre and asked what arrangements could be made for securing the auditorium for the concert, Mr. Howe replied: "You can have my house free of charge and I will give you $25 in addition. Just name the day and time—you can have the house whenever you want it. I will cut out any performance and will do everything I can to make this concert the biggest success ever known in Glendale. In giving the house I feel that I am doing a very trifling thing for the man who has done so much for the people of Glendale. Call on me for any assistance. I will be overjoyed to do whatever I can."

Present plans are to make this concert one of the highest class events ever given in Glendale. Prominent artists of Southern California will appear on the program, every number of which will be sacred.

In speaking of the concert this morning Mayor Robinson said: "You'll have to get your tickets early, for the place is going to be jammed to the doors. Harry Girard has done so much for the people of Glendale that they are even now scrambling all over themselves to show their appreciation. He has used his wonderful voice in helping all those who have called on him, regardless of religion, organization or any other feature. Dozens of times he has gone far out of his way to give assistance to those needing it. Harry's got a big carcass, but his heart is a million times as large as his body. He is everybody's friend, and everybody loves him. Take a tip from me—get your tickets early."

Already a number of the organizations of the city have fallen in line and will give their hearty cooperation in this matter. The American Legion, Spanish War Veterans, Glendale and Los Angeles Elks have been heard from, and they all say: "Count us in."

The remaining organizations of the city will be consulted and it is believed that when the votes are all counted they will be "on the inside."

STRIKERS CONTROL IN SLATER, MO.
SLATER, Mo., July 6.—Striking shoe workers continued to control Slater today, following deportation of 30 strikebreakers yesterday.

That Parking Ordinance

Much discussion and difference of opinion has arisen in connection with the parking ordinance. It looks as if no matter what kind of regulations are passed by the city council, they will not be satisfactory to quite a few of our citizens.

There are several ways of looking at this proposition, according to the viewpoint assumed.

There are merchants—retail dealers—who claim that their businesses are interfered with by the practice of leaving autos parked throughout the day at the curbs of our main thoroughfares.

Also, there are merchants who are not in favor of any parking regulations.

Looking at the proposition from a personal standpoint, we are in favor of an ordinance limiting parking for one hour on Brand boulevard from Harvard to Wilson and on Broadway from Orange to Maryland, and throwing all other streets open for unlimited parking.

Regulation such as this would not work any hardships on anyone. Parking places could be found within a block or two of any store.

But let's look at the ordinance from the viewpoint of removing obstacles in the path of those who desire to come to Glendale to trade.

There has been some complaint of a slackening of business. Let's do away with any and all agencies which would interfere with trade, which is necessary to have if Glendale is to hold her present growth.

We might suggest that a great deal of additional parking space can be gained by repainting the space in which cars are to be parked, for we have noticed a great many instances where if cars were parked at a proper angle, close to other cars, several additional spaces could be gained.

While we are on the subject of the discussion of obstacles in the path which brings trade to Glendale we would suggest that the traffic situation be handled with more generosity towards the citizen or visitor who violates an ordinance through lack of knowledge. We would suggest that our city fathers have large signs placed at the different entrances to Glendale, advising the speed requirements on entering the city, and that signs be placed in districts where the speed requirements have changed.

We cannot lose sight of the fact that there has been a lot of criticism on our traffic situation. Whether just or unjust, it does harm to Glendale and spreads very quickly. If this criticism can be eliminated by showing consideration towards innocent violators and a campaign of education, why not do it?

The fact has been brought up that during a recent junket of our business men through the valley, speakers, and among them some of our city fathers, assured the listeners that if they came to Glendale they could park without restrictions. This view of the ordinance of restriction passed is to be regretted. In future junkets we should be careful of our promises.

Our city council at its meeting tonight should adjust our ordinances so as to bring all trade to Glendale that would like to come here.

Traffic and parking ordinances have cut the trade of Los Angeles merchants so as to hurt. Let us profit by their experience.

EXCEPTIONAL PROGRAM TO BE GIVEN THIS EVENING BY PRESS-NEWTON STATION

High Standard of Concerts to Be Maintained by Artists Who Have Volunteered to Give Their Services This Evening

"Kitten on the Keys," fox trot, played by Carl Fenton's orchestra.
"By the Sapphire Seas," played by Miss Edith Del Monico, violin, and her sister, Miss Emilia Del Monico, piano.
"Georgia," encore by the Del Monico sisters.
"The Answer," by Robert Terry, sung by Miss Bernice Wayham, soprano, accompanied by Howard Edward Cavanah on the piano.
"Pleading," by Edward Elger, encore by Miss Bernice Wayham.
"The Butterfly," by Lavalie, piano selection by Miss Beatrice Joensen.
"Dance Arabia," by Martine, encore by Miss Joensen.
Solo and encore, sung by Jacques Thieroux, baritone, accompanied on the piano by Howard Edward Cavanah.
"Thirty Minutes of Harmony," by the Shrine Club orchestra.
"Just Like a Rainbow," fox trot, played by Arden and Kortlander for the Ampico.

With some few changes in the program to be given from the Press-Newton radio station this evening, the program still remains superb. Mr. William Bode, whose name was incorrectly spelled yesterday, will be unable to attend, due to previous arrangements with his pupils. Miss Bernice Wayham and Mr. Jacques Thieroux have been kind enough to lend their services, which still keeps the program up to the usual standard. Miss Wayham and Mr. Thieroux are both pupils of Howard Edward Cavanah. Mr. Cavanah has consented to accompany them on the piano.

Misses Edith and Emilia Del Monico have a treat in store for the radio fans. Both are masters of popular music and can put the expression in their playing that will cause hundreds to wiggle their feet and hum while they are listening. The Del Monico sisters are Angelenos and are making this trip to Glendale to please the radio bugs.

The Shrine club orchestra will undoubtedly play many pieces, as they will fill the balance of the program and as a consequence it is impossible to print the numbers which will be played by them. This orchestra is of six pieces and is reputed to be among the best.

MATTISON B. JONES, of Glendale, Who Enters Race for Democratic Gubernatorial Nomination

MATTISON B. JONES ENTERS FIGHT FOR GOVERNOR

Supported by Friends Will Make Race for Democratic Nomination

Accepting the support of his friends in Southern California and the state at large, Mattison B. Jones of Glendale, today declared his willingness to be the standard-bearer of his party before the Democratic primary this fall, in the contest for governor.

In announcing his intention, Mr. Jones issued a statement, which follows: "To the Democratic Club, of Glendale:

"In response to your unanimous action taken some two months ago, requesting me to become a candidate at the August primary for the Democratic nomination for governor, I desire to say that the compliment you paid me was so very generous and gratifying as to earnestly claim my most serious consideration at all times since. The fact that my neighbors thought me worthy to connect my name with the governorship of this great commonwealth, calls from me a degree of appreciation which I cannot in any manner adequately express."

"On the 21st of last month the Democratic club of Southern California, with headquarters at the Alexandria hotel, Los Angeles, which, I believe, very largely expresses the wish and judgment of the other Democrats in Southern California, also unanimously passed a resolution requesting me to become a candidate. I have every assurance that it is the desire of Northern and Central California Democrats that the Democrats of Southern California name one of their number for governor; and believing that the Democratic club of Glendale and the Democratic club of Southern California desire to do what they think best for the interest of the Democratic party and the people of California, and relying upon their judgment, I have decided to accept their combined wish, and hereby announce myself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of California. If the Democrats of California, August 29, shall ratify your selection, I pledge you and them, and the people of California, my best efforts for a successful result November 7. If elected governor of California, I shall know that the people, regardless of party affiliations, have commissioned me to a great task, a task of service, and that task will be performed in the interest of no special class of citizens, but positively in the interest of the whole people."

"With grateful acknowledgments of your action in the premises,

"Very sincerely yours,
"MATTISON B. JONES."

FOUND INTOXICATED IN AUTOMOBILE

G. E. Crawley of 332 South Maryland avenue was arrested last night, charged with intoxication. When arrested he was lying in his machine, which was parked within the 700 block on East Windsor road. He was found by A. Haycock of 709 East Windsor road, who reported the matter to the police.

When arrested, Crawley is reported to have had a bottle of "moonshine" in his possession. He was later permitted to go home, after furnishing bail to the extent of $10. His machine, a Willys-Knight car, is being held at headquarters.

TELEPHONE, CITY OFFICIALS TO CONFER ON JULY 13 OVER NEED OF BETTER SERVICE

City Council Decides to Investigate With Company Management All the Complaints of Local Patrons in This District

DIVISION SUPERINTENDENT TO ATTEND

Manager Reeves Calls Attention to Grievances That Have Reached the Administration, Which Is Believed Should Be Remedied at Once

Definite steps have been taken by the city council for the improvement of the telephone service in Glendale. On instructions from the council, City Manager Reeves has taken this matter up with the general manager of the Southern California Telephone company, and R. N. Powley, division commercial superintendent, representing the telephone company, has arranged with local officials for a "get-together" meeting to be held at 6:30 p. m. on Thursday, July 13. The object of this session will be to devise ways and means of improving telephone service here and in giving the local patrons the service they are entitled to.

Following is the communication sent by City Manager Reeves to the general manager of the telephone company: "Many complaints are reaching the city council of the city of Glendale regarding the service furnished by your company to local patrons. The volume and character of these complaints are such that it is apparent to the council that there is something radically wrong with your local service. They have, therefore, instructed me to write to you for a definite statement as to whether or not the local service is to be improved, and if so, when and how? If not, it is their intention to forthwith take the matter up with the state railroad commission of California."

"I wish to state further that the above is in no sense a reflection upon your local manager, Mr. Deal. We are convinced that he is doing all within his power to improve the situation, but probably has not the authority that is necessary to give the service that the people of Glendale have a right to expect and which they do expect and which they propose to have."

"An early reply will be greatly appreciated and a conference with the city officials can be arranged on short notice, if desired by you."

The reply of Mr. Powley seems to convey the impression that the company is aware of the poor service it is giving the people of Glendale, and that it will go half way in improving the service. This reply follows:

"Referring to your letter of June 30, regarding the Glendale telephone service.

"It is our desire to render our Glendale patrons a prompt and efficient telephone service and we will spare no effort in carrying out this policy."

"We appreciate the opportunity of taking up this matter with the city officials and we shall be very glad to present the matter to you. We are confident that we can mutually consider the matter toward the end of your receiving a satisfactory and sufficient service."

"If you will kindly advise us as to what date will be acceptable to you we will be very glad to arrange to meet you accordingly."

"We note your slogan, 'Glendale, the fastest growing city in America.' Our desire is to assure you of our desire to play our part effectively in the upbuilding of your city. The remarkable growth of your city brings with it added problems for our company—problems which are created by the very growth itself. We assure you, however, that a mutual understanding of both problems of growth, and with our earnest endeavor to render a satisfactory service, will be helpful in carrying on the pace which Glendale has set in its remarkable growth."

MAYOR ROBINSON TO VISIT SCOUT CAMP

Peter L. Ferry, chairman of the district camping committee, has invited Mayor Spencer Robinson to accompany the Verdugo Hills Scouts on their camping trip to Catalina island, from July 20 to 29 inclusive. And the mayor has accepted the invitation and will be in camp with the boys the full ten days.

Mayor Robinson said: "This trip is just the thing I have been looking for, and I will even go to the extent of acting as chief cook and bottle-washer for the camp."

But the camping committee has other plans for the mayor. He is now honorary tenderfoot scout, and the plan is to make the mayor an honorary first-class scout when he returns from the camp. This work will include first aid, life saving and hiking one-half mile at-a-scout's pace, making fires using only two matches, signaling, map-making and swimming. That is all he must do to become a first-class scout.

BRAZILIAN REBELS HOLD FORT AT RIO JANEIRO

Heavy Guns of Government Forces, Directed Against Copacabana

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 6 (6:40 a. m.).—The roar of heavy guns thundering in Rio bay early today told of insurgents who revolted yesterday still holding out against overwhelming numbers of government troops. Brazil's embryonic revolution still smoldered, although rebel surrender was believed at hand. Insurgents holding Fort Copacabana were subjected to sporadic cannonading.

Brazilian government forces are rapidly dominating the situation, which resulted from the revolt by groups of the army and navy, according to a statement issued by the secretary to President Pessoa to the United Press.

Fort Copacabana, where all the sailors of the garrison and most of the soldiers revolted, is reported to have asked for government plenipotentiaries to discuss surrender. The government replied that only unconditional surrender would be considered.

The statement to the United Press by the president's secretary said:

"The military school and the 15th battalion of the army revolted and marched toward Villa Militar. En route the party encountered a group of government troops, which defeated the rebels."

"All the sailors and the majority of soldiers in Fort Copacabana revolted. The fort was surrounded by land and sea and is still resisting."

The center of the city of Rio continues quiet. Practically all business houses were closed throughout Wednesday afternoon. Some cannonading was audible in Rio during the afternoon.

The Brazilian dreadnaught Minas Geraes is reported shelling Fort Copacabana, which is believed to be the last stronghold of the mutineers.

President Pessoa met the situation by asking the chamber to declare a state of siege for 30 days in Rio and the federal district, which the chamber unanimously approved. The senate is expected to act promptly upon the measure.

THREE CARS MEET IN ACCIDENTS

Three more automobile accidents were added to the long list yesterday.

Augustus A. Walker of Opechee way was driving a machine which collided with a car operated by George C. Gindine of Los Angeles at 4:30 p. m. yesterday. Both cars were slightly bent, but no one was hurt.

A car driven by H. C. Binns of 1st E. Maple street and another, the driver of which is unknown, came together at the corner of Wilson and Brand at 6:30 last night. There were screams and crashing of tin, but no one was hurt.

J. J. BURKE BACK 'ALSO RAN' VERSE FROM HONOLULU IN CONTEST OF SPRING POETS PILGRIMAGE

Tells of Visiting Craters With Big Shrine Delegation to Hawaii

J. J. Burke, contractor and builder, of 1242 South Maryland avenue, returned to Glendale Wednesday evening from the Shrine convention of North America, which was held at Honolulu. The steamer "Natsionian" left San Francisco with a party of 296 Shriners on June 16, and arrived at the island of Aukwa, June 22, being on the water six days. They spent five days on this island and from there the party went to Hilo, on the island of Hawaii. They visited Madame Peale, the big crater, and Mr. Burke stated that he stuck a piece of paper in one of the cracks and burned the edges to bring home for a souvenir. They could feel the heat from where they stood, about 30 yards from the edge. This crater is 3 of a mile across one way, and 11-14 miles across the other, and 1000 feet deep. It is so dangerous at this time that they didn't dare get any nearer than 30 yards from the edge, where they could see a great deal of smoke. They took luncheon that day at the Crater house, which was prepared by the Shriners of Hilo. From where they ate, they could look right over into the crater.

Mr. Burke states that the vegetation on the island is wonderful, due to 200 inches of rain there per year. The shrubbery is beautiful, grows more like trees and grows 15 feet tall. Mr. Burke stated "bananas, guavas, coffee, mango and other fruits grow wild along the road and it seems queer to be able to go along and pick all the ripe bananas you want by the wayside."

While in Honolulu, they stopped at the Moana hotel, right on Waikiki beach, where the temperature of the water is 70 to 72 degrees all the year around. The temperature at Waikiki is from 70 to 80 degrees all the time, the nights being just as warm as the days.

At Aukwa, the natives built a temporary Hawaiian village and took the guests back to their primitive days, cooking their food in the ground. At this time they gave a hula, which means banquet or feast, and served in a salad costume. All foods were eaten in the primitive manner with no knives or forks. The natives' main food is known as "poi" and is something like a cornstarch pudding, but with no flavor.

At this village, the native girls gave their native dance, the hula-hula, wearing their grass dresses. Mr. Burke brought home two of these dresses as souvenirs.

He stated, "you would be surprised at the good language the natives use there. Only a few of them do not speak English, and they live in a section off by themselves. The children and women of the islands speak more perfect English than a great many Americans. It seems that these people could not do enough for us. They were so courteous and anxious to show us a good time. They are not an energetic race, but manage to work enough to make an honest living. You will find Japanese people in the stores and banks. The average wage for a carpenter or mechanic is $5 per day, and the common wage earner makes around $2. In the pineapple industry, which plays an important part in business there, they pay 14 cents per hour."

The Shriners visited the Pearl harbor navy yard, which has the largest dry dock in the world. Mr. Burke states that all had a wonderful time. He played in the band and every afternoon they enjoyed a concert. In the evening, dancing and other deck sports were participated in.

A farmer, being short a team, hitched a mule and an ox together to help with the hauling. When the team had gone a mile down the road the ox stopped, lay down and refused to go further. The farmer said nothing, simply unhitched the animal, returned it to the stable and made the mule pull the wagon the rest of the day.

That night the ox spoke to the mule confidently. "What did your boss say today?" he asked. "Nothing that I heard," replied the mule. The next day the ox was hitched with the mule again. This time he lay down at the end of a half mile. Again the farmer calmly unhitched him, put him back in the stable and made the mule do the hauling.

"What did the boss say this time?" asked the ox that night. "I didn't hear him say anything," replied the mule, "but he's leaning over the fence out there talking to a butcher."

As near as I recall.

As we wend our way Down the path of life And trip on the pebble and stone, If we see the good And are blind to strife The moss on the rock will atone.

At each bend in the path, We learn to look; The moss can be seen afar— And the vision made clear To the man without fear Of he sees things as they are.

When the years roll by And we take our stock, The life that counts in the plan Is the one made bright By the afterglow Of the fellowship of man. —W. C. Waring.

"ALL'S WELL THAT ENDS WELL" Mr. Jensen, Balyea and Wallsma one beautiful day in "May" had not a "Whitaker," decided to go across a "Hill" to a little resort called "Westberg," expecting to catch some "Herring," which was fit for a "Kink," but after walking a short distance approached a "Cowman" calf "Waring" a "Bell." Being frightened they started running across "Anspach" of ground which they thought would be smoother if she would "Harrower" soil, so tried to make the best of it.

Having reached a "Green" cornfield some distance away started "Shuck" some for dinner which they cooked around a campfire, but soon after began to get sick thinking if only "Dr. Appleton" had accompanied them on their trip, and wishing for telephone "Booth" where they could let their troubles be known, and also of their wives who might be left "Widdows."

Not wanting to give up to "Scovern," they were found by "Howarth," "Heisse" and Dr. Boyer, the latter giving them some nasty "Brown" medicine with instructions to take half an ounce and not a "Gillmore." They began to feel like doubting "Thomas," for the medicine tasted like "Castile" soap and didn't stop the "Hoyle," however, it wasn't long before they had fully recovered, picking up a hat which had "Sutton" brushed it off and traveled along, reaching their destination.

The first persons they saw after their arrival were Mr. "Barton," "Jackson" and "Johnston" talking to "Dr. Marlenee," who was fitting them with glasses so they would see things in a different light, but this crowd of men were now attracting considerable attention and "Sheriff" "Cline" came along accompanied by Chief of Police "Mandis," who would have arrested them, but for Mr. Radke pronouncing them all perfect jewels. So, after singing, "Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly," led by Herman Psenner, all started for home a happy and progressive crowd.

Well folks, I no longer will keep you in suspense For this poem of mine is certainly immense. I've racked my poor brain trying to think While my pencil's chewed up and I am out of ink.

I have plenty of paper left you see And am buzzing away just like a bee In a great big field of nice red clover Hoping and praying this soon will be over.

So I'll ask you not to pine For this concludes the poem of mine. —Fred S. Hill.

Spring is here for all of us, But please don't make a fuss. Poetry is on the wing, In this put in your spring—

FELLOW PROGRESSIVES LET'S GO!

"There isn't any business," Wailed the sad and gloomy man; I haven't made a dollar Since the armistice began. But I couldn't help reflecting, As I heard his story through— That the hopeful cheerful hustler, Seems to have a lot to do.

I have been in business places, Where the air was thick with gloom And the men were sad and solemn Like the mourners at a tomb— And there wasn't any business Or an order coming in.

And—what's more, there never will be Till these fellows start to grin.

"There isn't any business"— Aren't you weary of the cry? Men have caught the gloomy habit, And they sit around and sigh. But the hustler I have noticed Who has quit his easy chair, And is confidently working, Seems to gather in his share.

It is time to get the business, It is time to hustle out; It is time to hustle out; Much too long we've sobbed and whispered.

Much too long we've talked of woe. Now its time for optimism And the hopeful phrase, "Let's Go!" Fellow Progressives, Let's Go! —Ed N. Radke.

There is a bunch of business men Who formed a little club. They called themselves "Progressive"

For in progress they're the hub. The city which we live in Has grown so very fast, That we sometimes stop and wonder

If the pace can really last. And now, mix dear progressive, We'll work through thick and

And keep this city growing Till there can no one get in. —A. B. Castile.

I never was much of a poet, And now more than ever I know it. I've been thinking all day Of something to say— That I didn't succeed, this will show it.

Truths in Epigram

Man's love is of man's life a thing apart; 'tis woman's whole existence. — Byron (1788-1824).

What we anticipate seldom occurs; what we least expect generally happens. — Disraeli (1804-1881).

Free trade, one of the greatest blessings which a government can confer on a people, is in almost every country unpopular. —
Macaulay (1800-1859).

GREAT GIFT TO THE PUBLIC

In mentioning educational facilities of this region, it is customary to specify the excellence of the public schools. Much is said, and justly, of the high character of universities and colleges. Not much has been said as to the magnificent gift of Henry E. Huntington. This gift is a direct contribution to the cause of higher education and culture. It spreads before the student a wealth in books and manuscripts such as could not be found elsewhere outside the British Museum. It presents the finest in art, to serve as the inspiration of genius. To place a valuation upon the collections would be impossible. They cost the donor many millions, but in reality they are priceless. They have been splendidly housed in the midst of a beautiful estate. And all of this, the grounds, the buildings and the matchless content, have been made over to the public. There are no conditions imposed. There are no methods by which the trustees might at a future time, take back the benefaction.

The meaning of all this is that in this region has been established an educational center that will draw people from all over the world. Students who once would have had to go abroad to pursue investigation in letters or science, will find all needed material in their own land. It is well worth noting also that the setting of the varied treasures is in a botanical garden of rare and unexampled beauty, affording in itself much to stimulate the artistic sense.

The fact that Mr. Huntington has been collecting on a large scale had been no secret. Some of his purchases were startling in their intrinsic importance as well as in the sums they involved. That his purpose was to bestow upon the public all the fine and matchless wealth accumulated by his generosity, gives him a conspicuous place among munificent benefactors.

MANNERS IN THE SENATE

There is a habit of mentioning the senate as the most dignified legislative body in the world. The compliment may have been deserved at some time in the past. It is not deserved now. Senators are likely to indulge in bickering petty as ever heard in the council chamber of a village. It is no uncommon thing for one senator to turn another a liar. The allegation possibly is in full accord with facts, but out of consonance with the theory of senatorial courtesy. At irregular intervals some senator, fists ready for a blow, rushes towards a fellow member. At such crises others project themselves between, or grab the hostile men by their respective coat tails. Perhaps this interference is unfortunate. The form of correction best expressed in a black eye seems to be the need of some of the more truculent.

It is an ordinary piece of news that relates how Watsons of Georgia violates not only the rules of the senate but the rules of common decency. He hurls epithets at whomever happens to be a convenient target. Witnesses called before senate committees, and helpless to voice resentment, often are his chosen victims. He bawls out threats of personal chastisement to senators to real dignity, subjecting them to humiliating experiences from which a gentleman should be exempt. Yet recently the pugnacious Watson has had to appear in the role of peacemaker.

There was a passage of words between Senators Heflin and Glass. The latter had charged Heflin with making false statements. Heflin responded that Glass was a liar. Watson, accustomed to be in the center of the melee, and not watching from the sidelines, called both to order. When conduct has reached a level shocking to Watson, the spectacle must be saddening to the country.

For the sake of peace, senators will have to refrain from lying, or from reproaching each other at every slip from the truth. Tradition is being destroyed, and business blocked.

THE RECORD OF STEPHENS

In an entirely modest fashion Governor Stephens announces that he is a candidate for another term. This must be satisfactory to a great majority of voters. They are familiar with his record, and it teaches them that the confidence they had in him rested on a solid basis. Governor Stephens is in a position to "point with pride." The advance in the material interests of the state, the economy of management, are demonstrations of high purpose, and splendid result of executive ability. His entrance into the race will be particularly pleasing to people at this end of the state, who had known him long and intimately before he had been called to his present station.

Attacks upon Governor Stephens have been based on the attempt to show that his administration has been extravagant. They have failed signally because based upon false premises. This state performs many functions that in other states fall to the several county governments. Thus it has to collect and to disburse larger sums than are handled by the commonwealth elsewhere. The state takes charge of schools, attends to certain beneficent charities, promotes the building of roads. In doing this it saves the taxpayer, for the aggregates are far less than would be the total of expenses were such matters left to the counties. It is by citing the figures, and failing to analyze them; or by misconstruing them deliberately, that the opposition to the governor hopes to make out a case against him. It cannot be done. The fact is all favor the present administration. It has been economical and effective. The voters of California are aware of this, and cannot be misled by sophistry, or the juggling of statistics.

MAYOR OLES QUILTS

Mayor Oles of Youngstown, Ohio, has quit. His election was regarded as a joke, his official career has been spectacular. He steps out with a pyrotechnic whizz-bang. He says that he resigns because an honest man cannot hold the job. A few days ago there was a suggestion that he be impeached. The charge against him is not of record here. Doubtless, however, it was not that he had conducted his office honestly. Behind a threat of impeachment there would have to be some different allegation.

It is probable that Oles is mistaken about many things. He may even err in his belief that an honest man could not be the chief executive. One trouble with him was that he thought he could assume authority and by a wave of his hand, banish all the ills, or the fancied ills, of municipal government. This is likely to be the attitude of the person who declares himself a reformer. He may be quite sincere in his desire to bring about betterments. It is impossible for him to accomplish this by proclamation, ukase, fiat, or the shaking of an indignant fist.

There have been many honest and conscientious mayors. Some of them have brought about very beneficial reforms. The worthy tradesmen, projected into a place of authority, may have the best of intentions, and yet fail utterly. Intelligence, method in its application, is as necessary as a resolution to "turn the rascals out." Oles seems to have cherished a high purpose, but to have lacked tact, dignity and mental poise. His enthusiasm stirred the interest of the public, apparently without winning confidence.

The First Thing in Education

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The first thing in education is to learn how to earn money.

The most important thing for a boy or a girl to learn is to do some kind of work that people are willing to pay money for.

That is because the most important thing for a human being to learn is to get off other people's backs.

You are not going to have virtue that amounts to anything without the first virtue of all, which is self-reliance.

You are not going to have any really beautiful sentiment in the world, which is self-respect.

After Abraham had won his battle against the kings and was returning home the King of Sodom offered to pay him something, whereupon Abraham replied:

"I have lifted up mine hand unto the Lord, that I will not take a thread, nor a shoe-latchet, nor ought that is thine, lest thou should'st say: I have made Abraham rich." Abraham was a real person. Making money is not sordid. It is profoundly moral. The only way you can tell that the work you do is of any value to the world is that the world is willing to pay you money for it.

There is a good deal of buncombe about being superior to money considerations. Money means the world's judgment and the world is older and wiser than you are. As a rule the man who supplies people with what they want is doing more good than the man who is supplying people with what he thinks they ought to want.

There is such a thing as moral snobbery and it is very deadly.

Of course the world wants many things that are naughty and harmful; but most of the things it wants are sound and good.

Too many people believe the old lie, "The world owes me a living."

The world owes you nothing but to bury you when you have ceased to function.

You are not going to get out of this world anything but the equivalent of what you put into it. This is a more important thing for the child to learn than arithmetic, geography, manuring, French or physical culture.

Whoever intelligently loves his offspring will first of all see that this element of his education is not neglected.

THE RIGHT WORD

By W. CURTIS NICHOLSON
(Copyright, 1922, by The Associated Newspapers.)
WORDS, RIGHT AND WRONG
(Find the error in this article.)

Only—This word is either an adverb or an adjective. In the writings of our best authors it will be found that only is frequently so placed that it does not function properly and often produces an ambiguous expression. The word should be placed as near as possible the word, phrase, or clause which it is intended to modify; as, I have been here only ten minutes (not, I have only been here ten minutes); his brother said only one thing (not, his brother only said one thing); I shall go only when you return (not, I shall only go when you return). Only following a verb and preceding a word, phrase, or clause modifies the following expression properly; as, he answered only when he was spoken to (do not say, he only answered when he was spoken to).

Loan—This word is properly a noun. The Standard dictionary gives it as a verb also, but follows it with the parenthetical expression "(U. S.)"; the Century follows it with the parenthetical expression "(An objectionable use, rare in Great Britain)". Use loan as a noun; as, he made me a loan; the loan has been paid. Will this suggestion effect and improve your speech?

Yesterday's Error
"Is it not better to say: Will talk on, or about, a given subject; or, even, give a talk."
Do not be careless in the matter of punctuation. When asking a question place an interrogation point at the end of the sentence.

Vocabulary
"It permits or constrains the formation of new acquaintances."
Constrain: "To compel to action or to inaction, by either physical or moral means; urge; oblige; as, hunger constrained him to eat. To confine or compress forcibly or unnaturally; as, the dress constrains her waist; a constrained position or voice."

Pronunciation: kon-strain' (o as in not; a as in ape). —Standard, Century, Webster and Oxford.
For observation: constrain (noun); constrainingly (adverb); constrainer (noun); constrainment (noun); constrainable (adjective).
Origin: constraine (old French).

THE LISTENING POST

Forces.
The things that move the world.
Not things that we create.
For we do not create force.
We make use of it.
Discover its sources and adapt them.

When you drop a sledge hammer on the rock you make use of a force.
A force that already exists.
The force of gravitation.
The tendency of the heavy body to fall.
So we hitch a bit of steel to a stick and make use of a naturally existing force.

Possibly you have seen a pile driver in action.
Or a pneumatic hammer.
The force exists.
Man has adapted it.
Knowledge has enabled him to make use of it.

So with a force derived from steam or electricity he lifts a heavy weight.
And lets it fall.
It being merely his business to direct the forces that exist.

A ship weighs fifty thousand tons, perhaps.
It matters not how much it weighs.
And it rests in the bottom of a dry dock.
No man or set of men could lift it.
Not enough could apply force.
No engine could be constructed big enough to lift it from the bottom of the dock.

But man makes use of a force existing in nature.
The lifting force of water.

Just as he makes use of the force of falling water in power machines.
To generate electrical current.
The ship rests in a water tight chamber.
And water is let into it.

There might be only a drop at first.
A trickle.
More drops and more trickles.
Until the water has risen as far as it can about the ship.
And then it begins to exert its lifting power.

It is strange that a substance as pliant, as fluid, as yielding as water is made use of to lift the heaviest ship.
But the force of pent up water is irresistible.
It becomes a machine that nothing can weigh down.
It becomes a battering ram that nothing can resist.

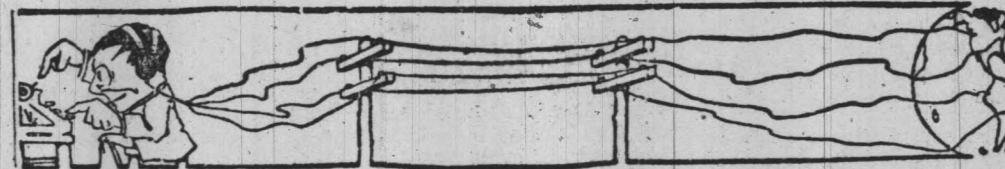

It becomes a knife to shear with.
A hammer to pound with.
A great engine to lift with.

The force exists.
We discover it.
Adapt it.
Make use of it.
As we can of every natural force.
And every spiritual force.
And every moral force.

You yourself are a bundle of forces.
A little universe of energies.
Some of which you do not understand.
Or make use of.
Because you have not set yourself out to learn them.
And adapt them.

We speak of initiative.
Individuality.
Courage.
And they are merely expressions of personal forces learned.
Understood.
And applied.

JAMES W. FOLEY.

SONGS OF THE POETS

The Relapse—By Thomas Stanley (1625-1678)

Turn away those cruel eyes,
The stars of my undoing!
Or death, in such a bright disguise,
May tempt a second wooing.

Punish their blind and impious pride,
Who dare condemn thy glory;
It was my fall that defied
Thy name, and seal'd thy story.

Yet no new sufferings can prepare
A higher praise to crown thee;
Though my first death proclaim thee fair,
My second will unthroned thee.

Lovers will doubt thou canst entice
No other for thy fuel,
And if thou burn one victim twice,
Both think thee poor and cruel.

Wild Game Resources of America of Fabulous Value

The wild game resources of the United States have a value that seems nearly fabulous, Dr. Barton Warren Evermann, president of the Pacific division of the American Association of Science, declares. He estimates the annual kill of game worth: Deer, $3,000,000; game birds, $3,000,000; game mammals, $50,000,000; fur-bearing animals, $10,000,000. To the wild fowl and animal wealth must be added the value of our great coal and oil fields and natural gas, forests of hard and soft woods, our hundreds of species of valuable insectivorous and predatory birds, and the rich fisheries of our Atlantic and Gulf coasts, Great Lakes and interior waters, and of our Pacific coast and Alaska.

This very richness of our natural resources has had much to do with making us the most short sighted, the most extravagant, and the most wasteful people in all the world," he said. "Every effort should be made to maintain in profitable condition these valuable assets."

He told how they could be conserved. Forest cover must be maintained. Swamp lands, marshes, ponds and small lakes that can not be converted into more valuable agricultural and must be kept in their natural condition. Stream pollution must be prohibited. Cover must be provided for quail, prairie chickens and pheasants. The migratory-bird treaty act has already resulted in a great increase in our waterfowl and other migratory birds; its rigid enforcement will result in still greater increases. The enactment into law of the "Public Shooting Grounds and Bird Refuge Act," recently introduced in congress, will make it certain that there will be splendid wild fowl shooting for all for many years to come without any serious effect upon the abundance of the various species.

The natural resources of the sea—the whales, fur seals, sea otters, sea lions, and walrus, are all in danger of serious depletion if not extinction. Dr. Evermann warned. An international treaty similar to that of 1911 for the protection of the northern fur seal and the southern sea otter, is necessary to save the southern fur seal, the southern sea otter, the whales and the other marine mammals from total extermination.

How come? We asked. "How come?" We found the answer. In those days we were not so well off as we are now. We did not have a lot of antique junk in the drawing-room. We had not bought a lot of some one else's ancestral silver. We did not have bonds and stocks and dogs and cats to watch. We lived in two rooms and a kitchen and a bath instead of in nine rooms and two baths and trouble with the servants. We were not worried by things. If we wished to shut the door and go the only thing we had to do was to shut the door and go.

And we propose to beat our way back to freedom. We have taken a contract on a dinky little bungalow out on the hill and we propose to live there. We will have a maid come to do the heavy lifting, and we will take what meals we wish at the hotel.

We propose to eliminate. We are going to throw overboard a lot of lumber that was worse than worthless. It not only served no good purpose but forced us into slavery to it. We are going back to the lumberless days of our early married life. If the burglars break into the bungalow they will promptly break out again. There will be nothing there for them to steal.

Hoory! We're free! Free of handsome, valuable, deadly, damnable, drugging possessions which have imprisoned us for years past. There's only one new thing I plan to buy. That's a framed motto containing this one sentence:

"Elimination is the price of freedom."

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA E. STEWART

Why should we consider chivalry a distinctly masculine possession? Why should it not be womanly as well, especially in these days when we are claiming all manly prerogatives? Chivalry has strayed from its original meaning of valor and dexterity in arms to stand for generosity, courtesy and honor in man's dealing with woman—the consideration of the strong for the weak.

But the sexes are not synonymously strong. Strength in one is weakness in the other many times. And we women do not always realize this, or realizing it, play with the masculine sense of chivalry to the limit. No girl attains to mature years without understanding that where a man is strongly attracted there will be most generous. The woman makes known that she wishes that will he supply, if it be possible. And so some of us flatter and cajole and suggest and tease to secure flattering attention and gay entertainment, even when we know it is beyond the purse limits.

So doing we deliberately invite danger—play with it for the pleasure we deem we are getting out of our flirtation. Warned by some wiser friend, we pause on the brink to say loftily, "I can take care of myself," entirely forgetful of the influence we have on others. A few encounters with such a travesty of womanhood lowers a man's ideals, weakens his higher desires, brings cynicism to his heart.

Why not have a trifle of the chivalry we expect in men? Why not, knowing our power, respect for ourselves to blame if we find among our men associates less of respect for our womanhood than we think desirable. We can hold high the standard of personal honor, or we can trail it in the dust. Which?

DO YOU KNOW THAT—?

Guillaume Amontons, a French physicist of the 17th century, having lost his hearing when a boy, refused to be treated for his deafness, declaring that the admission of common noises to his brain would interfere with his scientific studies.
One-tenth to one-seventh of all cloth power now generated by all the hydro-electric plants in Italy is 1,191,797 horsepower or just a little more than the amount that Marconi claims would be necessary to send a radio message to Mars.
The total electric power now manufactured in Germany is made of cotton waste.
Argentine frozen meat in Germany and fresh California fruits and vegetables in China are the result of new cold storage systems which have been installed in Pacific and Atlantic steamers.

STATE PRESIDENT GLENDALE HI MAY ATTENDS MISSION MEETING HERE LEAD THE STATE

Mrs. S. L. Darsey at Christian Church Missionary Society Gathering

History of Institution Which Is Distinguished for Scholarship

The ladies of the Missionary society of Central Christian church felt very fortunate in being able to have with them at their meeting Wednesday afternoon, the state president, Mrs. S. L. Darsey. This was the first meeting in the beautiful new mission room, and there were 48 members present and seven guests. It was also in celebration of their 13th anniversary.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Floyd Mercer, at which time the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The yearly report of the treasurer, Mrs. Learned, was read and showed an amount collected from dues of $639.14 at the end of the year, June 30, 1922.

It was announced that Miss Eva Garton would be the delegate from Glendale to the conference soon to be held at Sylmar. Miss Howe was appointed as chairman of a committee to take care of getting pictures for the new missionary room.

The state convention will open at Long Beach on Monday, July 24. This will be women's day and a large crowd is expected. There will be a chicken banquet at 5:45, tickets to be 75 cents, and it was urged that a large number from Glendale try and go. An interesting letter from Miss Kilgore in the state office was read, telling more of the convention plans and objects.

Following this business session, the program of the afternoon, which was in charge of Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. C. C. Stoler, was presented. Devotional songs were led by Mrs. Bolen. All charter members of the society were asked to stand at this time, and four little girls came in bearing greetings to the society. Doris Cole represented "Spring"; Dorothy Jodon, "Summer"; Hilda Stevenson, "Autumn"; and Garnet Lord "Winter." All joined in the singing of "Send the Gospel Message."

Mrs. Crawford read a brief history of the local society in which she stated that on Sunday, June, 1909, the ladies of the church decided to start a missionary society. At their first meeting there were 20 members and they elected Mrs. Hagen president, and Mrs. Utter vice-president. Mrs. Hagen soon left for the missionary field, and her place was filled by Mrs. Hawkins. Mrs. Utter was the second president. In closing, Mrs. Crawford stated that none other than a spirit of love and harmony was shown throughout their 13 years of work together, and their progress had shown this. Mrs. Learned then read an interesting prophecy of the society as it doubtless would appear 12 years from now. Mrs. Stoler rendered a beautiful vocal solo, accompanied by Mrs. Musser.

The "College of Missions" was the subject of a very interesting talk given by one of Glendale's future missionaries to Africa, Willard Learned. This school is situated at Indianapolis and is a most unique institution, being the only one of its kind in the world. It teaches its students about the country they are going to, something of the people, the climate and some of the problems they will have to meet on the field of missions.

Mrs. Bacon gave a brief talk on the Wright bill, which is to be voted upon in November. The next speaker was Mrs. S. L. Darsey, state president. She told of the societies' work during the past year and of the work ahead of them in the years to come. Her talk was most interesting.

Following this, the ladies adjourned to the banquet hall of the church, where cooling refreshments were served. Mrs. O. L. Kilborn having baked a beautiful cake in honor of their 13th birthday.

The next meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. Leggett.

PAUL HUTCHINSON WRITES FROM CAMP

Mr. C. E. Hutchinson and son Ralph returned Sunday from a 10-day vacation spent at Big Bear lake. They agree that both the fishing and boating there is fine, but are unable to decide which caught the bigger fish.

Paul Hutchinson writes from Camp Currie, where he is employed with 350 other young men and women of high school and college age, that the resort is full to overflowing. Paul will enter the Southern Branch of the University of California in the fall.

GLENDALE FOLKS CAMP IN MALIBU

A party of Glendale folks rambled out over the Ventura highway Monday night, going as far as the Malibu canyon, where they built a campfire and spread their blankets for the night. They spent the fourth in the canyon and returned to Glendale late last night. Those enjoying the outing were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nicholson and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reyberg, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Payne, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Warren and daughter.

When the local high school was organized in 1901, the idea of a union high school district was comparatively new. All this section north of Los Angeles was without high school facilities. The students who could not go to Los Angeles high or to Pasadena lost their opportunities for a high school education.

The Glendale Union high school district when organized included Burbank, West Glendale, Glendale, Tropic, Ivanhoe, including parts of Edendale, all the area along South San Fernando road to the Los Angeles city limits, Eagle Rock to the boundaries of Pasadena, and north through Verdugo canyon to include Crescenta district.

The enrollment from this territory for the first year was about forty students. A $10,000 bond issue was deemed large enough to build sufficient for the needs of the students, and the first building was built from these funds. It was located on the present site of Broadway and Brand.

When the Pacific Electric was built and transportation improved, the people began to come, and since then it has been a constant matter to build and rebuild to meet the continued rapid growth of the district. In 1908, the people voted to leave the small original site and building and go to a larger site. The administration building of the present plant was built at that time. In 1914, an addition to this site was purchased and two more buildings were erected. Two years later, a boys' gymnasium was built. In 1920, a girls' gymnasium and 10 bungalow classrooms were crowded into this site. Now, in 1922, all these buildings are crowded to the doors.

The growth of the school has been unusual, even among the schools of rapidly growing Southern California. The enrollment for the last year was 40 per cent higher than the preceding year, and all the school accommodations were crowded to the limit. The enrollment in the day school alone was 1,367, a September last nine additional teachers were elected. At the beginning of the last semester, five more teachers were added, making a total of 59 teachers.

The control of the school has always been most economical, considering results obtained. Official records for last year showed that we handled more students per teacher than any other school in the country except one. Throughout the whole life of the school it has had the hearty support of the patrons and the best possible advantages under the circumstances have been offered the students. This means that good equipment has been provided and excellent teachers elected. As a consequence, the school has held a high rank among the schools of the state. The record of its graduates in the several colleges and universities has been uniformly excellent. Several years ago, Glendale's representative in the freshman class at Stanford won second place in scholarship in competition with students from all the hundreds of high schools on the coast. Last year our representative won seventh place under similar conditions. These reports are typical of the records of its graduates.

The opportunity for this school system is a wonderful one. It has stood for years among the first in the state in the quality of its work. It stands near the top in its enrollment. Now it can take its place among the first in the state for the excellence of its school plant. It is an unusual condition offered us now. On this new site we shall bring to gether the best things known in school architecture and school equipment. One of the best schools of the state will be fittingly housed in one of the finest school plants in the West.

Miss Brockway Substitutes for Prof. Hallett at Pasadena

Miss Mildred Brockway of 221 Richland avenue, Glendale, has just been notified by Prof. P. Shaul Hallett, organist of All Saints' Episcopal church in Pasadena, that she has been selected to substitute him at all services at that church for the month of August. Miss Brockway, who is only 16 years of age, has recently been substituting at several Pasadena churches and is a very promising young organist.

WINNIPEG, Manitoba.—Manitoba has a good will fruit crop in prospect, according to Prof. W. Brodbeck, of the horticultural department of the Manitoba Agricultural college.

FROM THOSE WHO ARE HELPING RADIO

Radio is a complete success, but it has not reached its highest efficiency. However, the amateur element is surely working fast and we may expect most anything daily. In the start of a new industry there are a few howlers, and gloom spreaders in every locality. A nice little comment comes from the editor of the Courier (New Haven, Conn.) in this manner:

"No, radio isn't all a success just yet. Neither was the automobile, the phonograph or the motion picture. But the scientists are getting there just the same."

"It will be quite a while before the radio enthusiast who has just bought his brand new crystal set or vacuum tube receiving set will know what's wrong when some night his outfit refuses to 'listen in' on the broadcasting station programs."

"As it is today there is always something that goes wrong to matter how well the set is constructed or how much money has been paid for it. The first thing that strikes the radio fan is to roast the tar out of his pet little set without considering outside factors. He does not seem to realize that there are always elements beyond control at work in his vicinity or in his territory in which the broadcasting is done there just the same."

"For instance, leaky electric light lines make a noise like a spark set holding down the key and frequently prevent radio folks in a whole community from hearing concerts, night after night. Then again elevators, X-ray machines, welding machines—dozens of such devices—make a horrible clatter in the air and inspire radioists to insert new slang expressions into the unofficial dictionary of 'cuss.'"

All new machines and devices must go through the critical stage, and those that travel the fastest and grow rapidly receive the most severe criticisms. Those who do the criticizing are not the ones connected with the editorial lines. The editor of the Sentinel (P. T. Wayne, Ind.) makes this statement:

"The radiophone is not to be condemned because of the probability of an accident, any more than swimming, boating, automobilism, hunting, or any other pastimes favored by the young and old alike. The new recreation is too rich in harmless amusements and useful instruction to be discredited by its avoidable dangers."

There has been a great deal said about making use of radio to aid the police in catching criminals. Many a hurry call can be made by broadcasting news of a crime, and there may be a time when the criminal's picture can be sent quickly as is now done by the Bell system in Paris. If so, the crook may be caught quickly. The editor of the Tribune (Kokomo, Ind.) writes of raid in connection with the police department as follows:

"With crooks availing themselves of modern invention to evade the scrutiny and escape the pursuit of the agents of the law, it sometimes seems a question whether it will be possible for the 'cops' to equip themselves so as to be able to cope with the crooks."

"Since the high power automobile became a dependable vehicle, it has been the favorite means of the bank robber, the highwayman, the payroll snatcher and the metropolitan murderer in getting quickly away from the scene of the crime."

"Despite the fact of the use of these inventions by the crooks, however, the law seems in a fair way to get ahead and keep ahead. The radio is the thing that is giving the advantage to the cops. Throughout the country police stations are installing broadcasting stations and receiving sets. As soon as such equipment becomes general, and that time is not far in the future, every criminal will be advertised to the world as soon as his crime is committed. He has often been able to make his getaway because of the time and expense of sending descriptive messages by telephone and telegraph. He will be in a much tighter place when the radio gets into operation after him. When the description of a criminal is transmitted by radio its broadcasting will come to the notice of police officials and other persons listening in all over the country, and they will get the description so accurately that they will likely know the culprit at sight."

The ones most appreciative of the radiophone are those who live in the smaller towns and the country. Here is where a great populace has plenty of time on their hands evenings, and because they do not have the chance to hear the best of music they will use their receiving sets to pick up the messages in the air. The editor of the Recorder (Lyons, Colo.) writes of what small town inhabitants are doing:

"Listening in' on a country telephone may have had its thrills in by-gone days, but the 'listening in' on the conversation of the world by the half million of owners of radio receiving sets have an interest which comes not from a neighborhood gossip, but from getting up-to-minute reports of ball games, music and the latest news. You may hear a trombone in Chicago, and the next day may be a brass band in Salt Lake City, or a cornet in the Times office, Denver, all of which is broadcasted every few hours and can be picked up by any amateur having a proper receiving set. It is certainly wonderful."

The legislating element in municipalities and states seems to think it has the authority to regulate radio communication. As a matter of fact that regulation belongs to the federal government. A special committee from the National Fire Protection association has drawn up rules and the special agent for the Underwriters' Laboratories has asked that all radio users try them out, then make suggestions. The proposed ordinance in Chicago would compel owners of radio receiving sets to procure permits for their operation and pay a license and inspector's fee. More soft jobs for high-salaried "experts."—Radio Digest.

THE UNDERWRITER'S PHILOSOPHY

If you would take a look from the window of the Radio Digest's offices you would see six tall flag poles extending high up the roof of one of Chicago's large department stores. These poles penetrate the air high enough to attract any streaks of lightning in a storm, but they are never struck. Take another look and you will see an aerial attached to a pair of these poles below half mast. The flag poles are not given a single thought by the inspection authorities of the underwriters, yet the wires are given drastic rules. There is not a thought given to the vent pipe extending on the roof of a house which is a part of the system and become a ground direct with the bath tub and soil basin. This is almost an exact circuit like a radio set. If there is a little "juice" in the wires, then it becomes a hazard, so says the underwriters.

The rules set down by the underwriters have been formulated by persons entirely void of radio knowledge it would seem, and the rules work a hardship for those most interested in the science of radio.

If the underwriters are to be a real source of service to the country, why not employ expert authorities in their respective lines to act in the interests of all concerned. There is really no need for rules on radio, for lightning seldom ever strikes any extension in the air. It will strike something nearer the ground and usually hits an old dry wooden post or dead tree before it will come in contact with anything of steel or copper.

The whole theory of lightning and electrostatic charges combats the antiquated rules set forth by the underwriters.

It is reported that the Russian government is planning a great chain of cross-continent communication which will stretch from ocean to ocean and enable Russia or Siberia to communicate directly with any part of the world by radiophone. More static!

Wanted—School to Teach Aerials
Clipping from Springfield (Ill.) State Register says, "weighted to keep the aerials in the light."

"We thought they had quit teaching aerials nowadays, and were only 'stringing' them."—Radio Digest.

JUNIOR FINANCING TO BE FORMED BY EDISON CO.

Over-Subscription Results in Possibility of Cheaper Money

Following the big over-subscription of Edison common stock resulting in the discontinuation of its sale a week ago, the Southern California Edison company yesterday took the preliminary steps to institute a plan of cheaper junior financing, which will mean a saving of one percent or more in the cost of its money. President John B. Miller has issued formal notice to the 47,000 stockholders of the company of a meeting to be held on August 1 to consider this plan. In his letter to the stockholders, President Miller says: "A greater proportionate earnings will be provided for the benefit of the present stockholders. The position of the common stockholders will be improved by about $2,500,000. A cheaper means of financing for new construction requirements will be provided."

In announcing this plan for the issuing of the new stock, President Miller said: "The Southern California Edison company has been conceded to be one of the most soundly financed utilities in the country, and this new move, in the face of cheaper money conditions, is an evidence of the foresight of its management. The company's general policy is to provide the major part of its new construction needs through the sale of bonds and the remainder by capital stock. Herebefore common stock paying 8 percent dividends has been sold. It is now proposed to substitute a stock limited to 7 percent dividends for future sales, thus resulting in the company securing funds at 1 percent less than formerly, with the resultant benefit to present stockholders. This plan will make additional funds available for dividends on the stock outstanding."

While this plan can be made effective only under the authority of the Railroad commission, it is hoped that this will be granted prior to the stockholders' meeting on August 1.

In his announcement to the stockholders, President Miller says, "Through the unprecedented distribution of common capital stock among the people of Southern and Central California, your company is now in a most enviable position. In 1917 it adopted the policy of having a large number of partner stockholders with the result that between 1917 and the present date there has been sold about $35,000,000 par value in common stock, and the number of stockholders has been increased from less than 2,000 to over 47,000. This splendid result makes possible a rearrangement of the company's capitalization to provide for future financing at less cost which should provide a greater surplus available for dividends on common stock."

In a financial statement contained in his letter President Miller says that the present capitalization of the company consists of first preferred stock of which $4,000,000 was authorized and an equal amount outstanding. Of the second preferred $12,500,000 was authorized with $12,028,900 outstanding. Of the common there was authorized $83,500,000 with $50,407,400 outstanding, making a total authorized capitalization of $100,000,000 of which $66,437,300 is outstanding.

It is now proposed to rearrange the capitalization so as to provide for the original preferred stock of which $4,000,000 will be authorized with the same amount outstanding, preferred stock $26,000,000 with $9,500,000 outstanding. Of the common, $60,000,000 will be authorized, with $30,407,400 outstanding, making the total capitalization $100,000,000 with $63,907,400 outstanding.

"The original preferred stock will occupy the same position as the present preferred stock," says President Miller in his communication. "All of the second preferred stock will be retired. This rearrangement will make available a new stock limited to 7 percent dividends, which will be used to provide a part of the funds needed for the company's construction program, which during the next 10 years includes the development of approximately 1,000,000 horsepower of water power on the company's Big Creek project, with appurtenant transmission lines and distribution system.

"It is generally recognized," Mr. Miller concludes, "that this great development will be of inestimable value to the public in providing an abundant supply of cheap water power for future needs. This new plan will also eliminate the present outstanding $12,028,900 face value of second preferred stock by the issuance in place thereof of $9,500,000 of new 7 percent preferred stock, thus immediately resulting in an improvement of the position of the common stock by the reduction of $2,500,000 of outstanding capitalization.

"It is the opinion of your directors that the successful consummation of this plan will be of material benefit to the company in stabilizing its future finances. Substantial benefits will also accrue to the common stockholders, not only through increasing the equity of their stock, but through providing a greater surplus available for dividends."

was invented by Whitney in 1793.

The lady of the house was very soft-hearted and the tramp who had ventured to beg at the front door congratulated himself on his "soft touch."

"My poor man," said the lady, noticing the tramp's thin and woe-begone face, "here is a quarter for you. Dear me, you must have had many trials!"

"Yes, mum," replied the tramp; "I have. And a heap of convictions, too!"

Mlle. Lenglen, the French lawn tennis star, said at a dinner while in New York: "I like America, and I particularly like the generous portions you give in your restaurants. In France, poor France, it is another story. I live in Nice, and one evening an American gentleman and his wife took me to dinner at one of the restaurants in the Avenue de la Gare—Avenue de la Victorie we call it now. Well, the American gentleman was a great wag, and he poked a great deal of fun at the mean little portions that were served to us. At the end of the meal course the waiter asked him: 'Ho, widd you find your steed, monsieur?' 'Oh, quite easily,' said the American. 'I'm a detective, you know!'

Mr. Hughes was negotiating with a horse dealer. "I am," he said, "not so particular about speed, but I must have a gentle horse for my wife to ride." "Certainly," said the dealer. "He's a regular lady's horse."

"You're sure that he is not afraid of anything?" asked Mr. Hughes anxiously, and for the tenth time Whereupon the dealer assumed an air of reflection.

"Well, there is one thing that he has always appeared to be afraid of since I got him," he admitted conscientiously. "It seems as he's scared to death for fear some one might say 'whoa!' and he not hear it."

Which will you build—a home or just a house?

There are certain important factors that enter into the construction of a building that differentiate the real home from just a house affording shelter.

These considerations that impart comfort and beauty and a sense of luxury to the home are the result of expert knowledge. And this knowledge that makes it possible to create for you a real home, and not just a house, is within reach and easily obtained.

BUNGALOWS have suffered more, perhaps, from poor design than any other type of house, and the number of ugly ones is legion.

The one illustrated here shows a very compact and practical floor plan, when one desires a pleasing elevation along with convenience.

It can be placed on an inside or corner lot of fifty feet frontage with space at the right for a drive to a garage in the rear. The garden development should be on the porch side and in the rear. The front of the house should face south to provide the best exposures for the principal rooms.

Big Meeting Scheduled at Des Moines in September

DES MOINES, July 5.—Summons to all patriotic organizations in the country to join in an all-American convocation here next September has been issued by the national encampment committee of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Invitations were being mailed today to every patriotic society, not officially allied with the G. A. R., to send special delegations to the fifty-sixth annual encampment of the Veterans, which will be held here September 24-28.

Nine patriotic organizations, closely affiliated with the G. A. R., will hold their national conventions in conjunction with the encampment. These are:

The Women's Relief Corps, Sons of Veterans' auxiliary, Daughters of Veterans, Ladies of the G. A. R., National Association of Army Nurses, National Association of Vicksburg Veterans, National Association of Navy Veterans and National Association of Union Ex-Prisoners of War.

"Unusual significance should be attached to the G. A. R. encampment this year," said George E. Hamilton, secretary of the general executive committee.

"It will be one of the last opportunities younger allied organizations will have to learn the spirit of the '60s. More than 25,000 blue-coated veterans and their 30 life and drum corps will seek to make a lasting impression this year."

THE BURIED ROMANCE
Fear not, Sweet Maid! If Teacher asks you why
You're late to school I will tell her that I Am all to blame for getting you to go
The longest way and walking awful slow.
Perhaps she was a girl herself and when
I tell her that she'll dream of youth again
And some fair lad she used to know before
He went away and marched off to the war
To die a hero's death and now she has
To teach because he left her a lone lass.

You never know what sorrows people hide
Beneath a plain and stern looking outside.
She frightens us but maybe once she had
A heart like you but when her soldier lad
Came home all wrapped up in the flag she cried
So much because he's dead her heart just dried
Up like a nut. And so she sadly goes
Through life just whipping us to drown her woes
But if you only touch her heart you know
She would forgive us for she loved him so.

You might go first and I will wait and see
From hearing her what chance there is for me
To touch her heart by taking all the blame.
So when she looks at you and calls your name
I can rise up and say: "No! Touch her not!
I am to blame for it no matter what
You do to me!" But Oh, I wish I knew
If it would touch her as it ought to do,
Or will she be just cold and hard and say
She'd whip us both for being late today!

In the Political Spot Light

For the information of the voters of this district herewith is given a list of some of the most important offices to be filled this fall and the candidates who have already signified their intention of seeking the nomination:

United States Senate
Charles C. Moore, San Francisco.

Hiram W. Johnson, San Francisco.

Charles C. Moore has been named by many prominent Republicans in the state as a candidate who, if elected, would support the President in his forward looking policies in conformity with the pledges of the national Republican platform. His record qualifies him for the place.

Hiram W. Johnson, the incumbent, is seeking re-election.

For Governor
William D. Stephens, Los Angeles.

Friend Richardson, Berkeley.

William Stephens, the incumbent, has held office for six years, two years being the unfinished term of Senator Johnson. He is seeking re-election on the basis of his past record as governor.

Friend Richardson, state treasurer, is running for election for governor. He is said to have quite a following among the country editors.

Both of the above are for the Republican nomination. There has been quite a number of rumors to the effect that the Democrats would put two candidates in the field, although they have not yet filed.

United States Congress, Ninth Congressional District
Walter P. Lineberger, Long Beach.

Charles H. Randall, Pasadena. Walter P. Lineberger, the incumbent, is seeking re-election and will probably be endorsed by the congressional committee.

Charles H. Randall will be the Prohibition candidate and will probably be on all three tickets at the primary. He has represented this district before. There are rumors of other candidates, but no other announcements.

State Senator, Thirty-sixth District
A. Burlingame Johnson, Pasadena.

Dr. F. D. Mather, Pasadena.

Charles H. Burger, Los Angeles. Dr. F. D. Mather is at present assemblyman from this district. He is a retired minister.

A. Burlingame Johnson is a former assemblyman from this district.

Charles H. Burger is a civil service commissioner of Los Angeles county.

Assembly, Sixty-first District
Frank H. Waller, Glendale.

Far is the only candidate who has come out, but there are rumors of at least two more seeking the nomination.

Supervisor, Fifth District
Henry Wright, Pawkes, Burbank.

Henry Wright, the incumbent, is seeking re-election.

Byron P. Glenn is vice-president of the Lincoln Heights board of trade.

Pawkes is a rancher.

Lieutenant Governor
C. C. Young.

Joseph A. Rominger, Long Beach.

C. C. Young, the incumbent, is seeking re-election.

Joseph A. Rominger is at present state senator.

Treasurer
Walter Brinkop, Los Angeles.

Mellon, San Diego.

Walter Brinkop is an ex-service man, but is not seeking election on that fact, but on account of his qualifications. He is connected with a Los Angeles trust company. Johnson has been state commissioner of weights and measures.

Mellon is city treasurer of San Diego.

The state primaries are to be held on August 29. In order to vote at the primaries you must have registered since January this year. Those who have not yet registered in order to vote must register by not later than July 29. To vote at the primaries you must sign your party affiliations when you register. If you have not done this you can do so any time before July 29. The primaries are of the utmost importance and if you wish to help name the men for the office get busy and register.

NOTICE OF REPUBLICAN MEETING
The Republican congressional committee of the Ninth Congressional district has called a conference of Republicans of said district to be held in Pasadena on July 12 at 10:30 a. m. for the purpose of endorsing the Republican candidate for congress in said district.

For the purpose of electing a delegate to this conference and appointing the same among the Republican clubs in the Sixty-first Assembly district, a meeting will be held at the Glendale Union High school, Thursday evening, July 6, at 8 o'clock. Representatives of the Sixty-first Assembly district are requested to be present.

Judge John Perry Wood of the superior court of Los Angeles county today announced his candidacy for re-election. Judge Wood issued a statement setting forth his reasons for again seeking the office. The statement is as follows: "For the past twelve years I have been a judge of the superior court in this county. For four years before that I occupied public position as city attorney of Pasadena. During this sixteen years and during my practice in the community theretofore there has been ample opportunity for the people to know whether my longer continuance as one of the judges is consonant with the proper view of the public service.

"I would like to remain. The variety of causes that come before the court, their frequent great complexity, the pressure of crowded court calendars, taxes all one's diligence and resourcefulness, makes the effort to administer justice constantly stimulating and one's daily work a source of satisfaction. For this reason I love the work and would be loath to give it up.

"However, I shall not attempt to persuade the voters by personal solicitation nor by placarding the countryside with reproductions of my physiognomy. I shall do what I properly may by such announcement as this to inform the people of my candidacy for re-election. The result must rest with them."

Electrical
oil-baths for hair!
"Perhaps that is what we should call the hot-oil treatment, and tar-packs for your hair."
"Because Marinello drives in the beneficial quality of this treatment through Violet Ray or other needful electrical method."
"Part of a beauty service developed through 18 years."

MAY CELEBRATE TUJUNGA BRIDGE OPENING

Celebration Planned for August, to Advertise Fine Highway

TUJUNGA, July 6.—A celebration in honor of the completion of the bridge over the Tujunga wash may be held sometime in August, if plans under consideration by a committee from the Tujunga realty board are carried out.

Although the bridge has been opened for sometime, it is felt that there are still a great number of motorists who do not know of its existence, and it is to advertise the splendid highway opened up by its completion that the celebration is to be held.

The drive from Glendale, Pasadena and other nearby cities over the highway to San Fernando is becoming very popular as the road offers both a direct route and wonderful scenic attractions.

It is believed that civic bodies in other cities will give the project their support and it is planned to make the celebration a notable one.

Plans for Incorporation
Incorporation proceedings instituted by the committee of twenty, recently appointed to prepare the question of incorporation for presentation to the voters of the community, are going forward rapidly.

Ira H. Nance is in charge of the legal steps necessary before presenting the proposition and it is expected that a vote may be had in September.

Although the proposed boundaries which are shown in the committee's report take in somewhat less territory than is wished by some, it is felt that inasmuch as proceedings had already been started for the territory named, that much time would be gained by proceeding with these boundaries.

Districts outside the boundaries may be quickly voted in after incorporation is effected.

LAST NIGHT FOR GRIFFITH'S SHOW

Crowded houses greeted the production of "The Orphans of the Storm," one of D. W. Griffith's greatest plays, at the T. D. & L. theatre again yesterday. Today is the last day for this play, and, judging from the attendance that has marked this feature's stay in Glendale, at every performance today the playhouse will be crowded.

A year's attention by the keenest and most accomplished mind in the motion picture game was devoted to the making of "Orphans of the Storm." This is a play of appeal and not the slightest touch of effect has been omitted. Taking the sympathy interest of the helpless, blind Louise and the love interest of Henriette, her sister, and their persecution, D. W. Griffith has built on a foundation furnished by the stage classic, "The Two Orphans."

Listen to what Manager Allen of the T. D. & L., who is one of the most enthusiastic supporters of this production, has to say:

"The local T. D. & L. theatre is unusually fortunate in securing 'Orphans of the Storm' for its patrons. This play utilizes every bit of dramatic action in its displays, and against the titanic background of action and atmosphere of the period—the French revolution, 'Orphans of the Storm' is a rapidly-moving play. It is remarkable in historic interest and is filled with a mastery sense of suspense and climax."

And that said award has been approved by the Mayor of said City of Glendale.

Clerk's office, City of Glendale, California, June 20, 1922.

CITY CLERK OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE.

NOTICE OF STREET WORK

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, ON THE 22ND DAY OF JUNE, 1922, DID, AT ITS MEETING ON SAID DATE, ADOPT A RESOLUTION OF INTENTION, NUMBER 1552, DECLARING AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. That the public interest and convenience require and it is the intention of the Council of the City of Glendale to make the following work and improvement to be done, to-wit:

First: That

from the northern line of Broadway to the southern line of Salem Street and from the northern line of Salem Street to the southern line of Lexington Drive and from the northern line of Lexington Drive to the eastern prolongation of the northern line of Doran Street lying west of Columbus Avenue, and from the northern line of Pioneer Drive to the southern line of Pioneer Drive and from the northern line of Pioneer Drive to the southern line of Patterson Avenue to the southern line of Burchett Street and from the northern line of Burchett Street to the southern line of Arden Avenue, including all intersections of streets and alleys, be paved with concrete pavement three (3) inches in thickness, in accordance with Plan No. 543, Profile No. 48, and Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specification No. 42.

SECTION 2. That pursuant to the Act of the Legislature of the State of California, approved February 27, 1898, and of all Acts supplementary thereto, serial bonds bearing interest at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, shall be issued to represent assessments of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) or over for the costs of said work or improvement, and an even annual proportion of the principal sum thereof shall be payable by coupon on the second day of January, every year after their date, until the whole is paid; and the interest shall be payable semi-annually by coupon on the second days of January and July, respectively, of each year, at the rate of seven (7) per cent per annum on all sums unpaid, until the whole of said principal and interest is paid.

Said bonds shall extend over a period ending nine (9) years from and after the second day of January next succeeding the date of said bonds, and an even annual proportion of the principal sum thereof shall be payable by coupon on the second day of January, every year after their date, until the whole is paid; and the interest shall be payable semi-annually by coupon on the second days of January and July, respectively, of each year, at the rate of seven (7) per cent per annum on all sums unpaid, until the whole of said principal and interest is paid.

And the City Engineer is directed to make a diagram of the property affected or benefited by the work proposed to be done, and to describe in detail the same, and to be assessed to pay the cost and expense thereof. Such diagram shall show each separate lot, piece or parcel of land, the area in square feet of each of such lots, pieces or parcels of land, and the relative location of the same to the work proposed to be done, all within the limits of the assessment district, and such other matters as are required by law.

SECTION 3. The Council of the City of Glendale hereby orders that twelve hundred (1200) Dollars of the cost and expense of the work described in paragraph second of Section 1 hereof shall be paid out of the City Treasury from the 1922 Election
